If you haven't updated your Order Sheet lately now is the time to do so. The release of the generic Mycophenolate (Cellcept) has hit our drug database and we now carry many varieties. Also new this month are several different strengths and counts of Clonazepam, as well as an expanded line of Oxycodone. We also added more varieties Methadone and Diltiazem CD. There's always something going on at BidGenerics.com and updating your Order Sheet is a great way to stay on top of it.

Swine flu cause for concern?

At this point if you haven't heard the antics surrounding the Swine Flu you're probably one of the few. Since the cases started multiplying in Mexico and spreading to the U.S. it's caused a media frenzy that's swept the nation into a panic.

But nevertheless, focusing on what could-be and not the current facts can get you into a tight spot.

Regardless of the potential severity of the H1N1 virus (aka the Swine Flu), the truth is that people are worried and stocking up on antiviral drugs in an attempt to beat it. Even though they are urged to not to take antiviral meds unless symptoms are visible that hasn't stopped many from grabbing them up just in case.

According to the health care company SDI consumers are purchasing antiviral meds nearly 20 times faster than before the H1N1 outbreak.

That means that the pharmaceutical industry at every level should be prepared to handle the flood of flu-related medications that are being purchased across the country at exceptionally high rates.

Nobody can stop America from panicking, but we can all do our part to help keep their worry-stricken minds at ease knowing their flu meds are readily available.
